

Online Master's in Organizational Leadership

THE SCHOOL OF PROFESSIONAL STUDIES

OVERVIEW

The online master's in organizational leadership is designed for experienced professionals seeking to lead with confidence, influence and purpose.

Drawing on Brown University's interdisciplinary expertise, the program explores areas such as leadership psychology, power and politics, ethics, emerging technologies and strategic change. Students apply what they learn through a capstone project that addresses real-world challenges and demonstrates practical leadership impact.

CURRICULUM

The program curriculum combines evidence-based leadership theory with practical application, preparing students to navigate complex organizational dynamics and lead change effectively. Through coursework in areas such as strategic management, ethical decision-making and innovation, students develop the skills to foster collaboration, drive results and influence across diverse organizational contexts.
